Diving Holiday

Tenshi Beach House is ideally located for access to some of the best dive spots in South Australia. The O'Sullivan Beach boat ramp is just minutes away. Gulf St Vincent is home to extraordinary diversity in aquatic life, and many local dives are famous for the rare leafy sea dragon, as well as blue devils, strongies, sea pike, leatherjackets, spider crabs, cuttlefish, and many more. Port Noarlunga aquatic reserve is home to more than 200 species of marine plants and animals. Many natural and manmade reefs in the area are excellent dive spots, and wrecks include the Lumb, the Sea Wolf, Glenelg Barge and Glenelg Dredge. Most of these are boat dives that launch from O'Sullivan Beach or Glenelg. Wrecks of the John Robb and the Norma are a little further up the coast, and Rapid Bay and Second Valley dives are just one and a half hours drive away. You could plan a day trip that ends in the McLaren Vale wineries, or a BBQ on the deck at Tenshi as the sun sets.

'Everything we hoped for and more.'

Bookings

Tenshi Beach House is available all year round, and has all the facilities and comfort you might need after a long diving day. Bookings are easy – just give us a call. But book early.

We don't worry about peak or off seasons if you book direct. Summer stays are glorious; winter stays wild. A winter getaway by the beach could be just what you need. Dive shops in the area offer boat dives all year round.

We don't organise your dive tours. To organise boat dives, day trips, charters or diver training, please contact one of the local centres listed in this brochure. They all run regular dive excursions.

Minimum booking three nights.
